

Summer Housing Information

Getting to know Boston, Harvard Medical School, and Harvard University:

The Boston Area is made up of four separate cities/towns and their individual neighborhoods: Boston, Brookline, Cambridge, and Somerville.

Harvard Medical School (HMS) is located in the Longwood Area of Boston, between Fenway, Brookline, and Mission Hill neighborhoods. This is the primary location of your internship. This area known as the Harvard Longwood Campus or the Longwood Medical Area (LMA). The Department of Cell Biology is located primarily in C Building, LHRRB, and SGM with affiliated Faculty in the Chan School of Public Health, School of Dental Medicine, Dana Farber Cancer Institute, Boston Children's Hospital, and Longwood Center.

Harvard University is located on the other side of the Charles River in Cambridge. The M2 Shuttle provides service between the Harvard University and Harvard Longwood Campus.

Public Transportation & Commuting:

The Metro Boston Transit Authority \(MBTA\) runs a subway/trolley system (the T), bus, commuter rail, and ferry service. Harvard Medical School is located between the D & E Branch of the Green Line, and along the 8, 9, 19, 22, 28, 32, 35, 39, 47, 57 60, 65, 66, CT2 and CT3 bus lines. Though the terrain is occasionally hilly, commuting on bicycle is an excellent option: Hubway is a bike share service, and residents frequently commute on bikes they own privately as well. Cyclists should adhere to all relevant laws.

Generally, you do not want to spend more than 45 min – 1-hour commuting. A 30 – 45 min, or less, a commute will be ideal for off campus housing.
